Pioneers in Global Offshore Premedia Production.

Be compliant with the law: make your website disability friendly.

What Is ADA Compliance? Under the U.S. Federal law, the Americans with Disability Act requires company websites and digital material (videos, ads, etc.) be "accessible". That is, intelligible to blind, deaf, dyslexic or otherwise disabled visitors. It means functioning voice over descriptions for the blind or dyslexic and close-caption content description for the deaf. Failure to comply may result in lawsuits, conviction, and/or fines.

The benefits of ADA include:

- Serving a wider audience of approximately 40 million total in the USA alone
- Better overall user experience with accessibility optimizations.
- Increased search presence with discoverable transcripts.
- A new market for your goods or services
